Important Policies

- Students must read the article found at the following site which describes online v. traditional learning <https://top5onlinecolleges.org/differences-between-online-and-traditional-college-settings/>
- Registration implies intent to take the ASQ certification exam within 6 months of last day of class. If not willing to make that commitment, we advise against taking the course.
- Payment is not sufficient for, nor a guarantee of, receiving the completion certificate and the RU's. Active participation in the discussion area of the course and grades on quizzes are considered in the decision to award the certificate and the RUs. The student must show at least 75% participation in discussion and quizzes to get the completion certificate and RUs.
- A student will get out of a class as much time and effort he/she puts into it. Ultimately, YOU are the one who must take the ASQ certification exam so YOU must learn the material. There is no time to procrastinate! These are fast-paced classes, packed-full and designed to teach you, but also to guide YOUR STUDYING efforts. It is critical to have your books and supplies, keep up with the pace of the course, and be diligent in doing all the work: reading all the materials, discussion board activity, watching the videos, and doing the homework/quizzes.
- In short you must be engaged and an active participant in the learning process. If you commit the right amount of time and effort to this class, you will greatly improve you probability of success. This may not be a for-credit course at a university, but you must treat it as such. You can pave your path to success with self-discipline and dedication to doing the work. Of course, your instructor and classmates will be there to help you achieve that success!
- Refund Policy:
  - 100% tuition refund – Before the class starts
  - 50% tuition refund – Before the end of the first week of class
  - $75 tuition refund – After the second week of class

Testimonials

John Saporta

I earned my CQE on my first attempt, I do not believe this would have been possible without the structure of the class and its demands of pacing and discipline. Independent of employer sponsorship, this was money well spent. I will return when I commit to earning my next ASQ Certification.

Tracy Melin

Just wanted you to know that I took the CQE exam yesterday and passed! :)
Your course was excellent preparation for the exam and I was so glad that the course materials were still available to me on the Canvas site right up until the exam. Thanks for keeping the course content available! Thanks again for your great advice and guidance throughout the course!

Melanie B

Just got confirmation I passed the CMQ/OE exam!! Thanks so much for your guidance and teaching the class. It was a great experience. I am so relieved.

Todd C Miller

I highly recommend this class for anyone attempting to further their careers with the addition of the Quality Engineer Certification through ASQ. I found the self-paced classes to be very organized and informative with additional videos and tutorials that made taking and passing the Certification possible. I would suggest following all the instruction and making sure you set aside plenty of time daily to work the problems and view the tutorials provided. It will make all the difference in your testing. I would also suggest setting up your testing date in advance within 2 weeks of the end of the course ... having a goal will help you. Thanks again Professor Ludrick!

Taylor Woodward

I passed the CQE test today, and would not likely have without the course study materials, practice, and other information gained by taking your course. I just wanted to thank you for all the help you have been in this process.

Gregory Capps

Professor Robert Ludrick's CQE refresher course will more than prepare you to pass the CQE test. All the elements of the BOK will be covered and he will teach you to think like ASQ. All the postings from Professor Ludrick are particularly valuable, so pay special attention to the PowerPoint files & reference tables (and even YouTube videos!). The questions on Professor Ludrick's quizzes and exams were arguably harder than the ASQ test, so these do a good job ensuring your understanding of the material. Besides understanding the material, the course will teach you to manage your time on the test. Time management is critical for success. This was my first ASQ test, and as a 1st time passer of one of the hardest ASQ tests, I thank Professor Ludrick. I am considering follow-on ASQ prep courses / tests (CMQ/OE, CRE, CSQP, CSSBB), and also the MEM program from University of Nebraska, which I learned about from ASQ Education Chair Dr. Asgarpoor.
